COMMUNICATION

The Clerk presented a communication from her Honor, the Mayor, advising of her removal of Mr. David Scott from Board of Permit Appeals, and requesting that said letter be printed in the Journal of Proceedings. Text of the letter follows:

June 26, 1979

Mr. David Scott
P.O. Box 14232 (14)
San Francisco, California

Dear Mr. Scott:

In accordance with a policy established by my predecessor, and as explained to you when you were appointed by Mayor George R. Moscone, I am replacing you, as of this date, on the Board of Permit Appeals, since you are now a candidate for public office. I do this in accordance with the authority granted me by section 8.107 of the San Francisco City Charter.

I am certain that you understand that a member of the Board of Permit Appeals, and particularly its president, must be above the pressures of campaign politics in order to render impartial judgments on behalf of the City.

Also, I am confident, you understand that it is not appropriate for a member of my administration to use his position in the administration as a platform to run against the administration in the November election.

Thank you for your contributions to the Board and to the City.

Sincerely,

Dianne Feinstein
Mayor

The number of condominium conversion applications has greatly increased during the last twelve months, straining the ability of the Department of Public Works, City Planning Department and the Board of Supervisors to process applications within the time limitations established by the State Subdivision Map Act. In anticipation of this ordinance, applications continue to be filed at an increasing rate. Board of Supervisors Sitting as a Committee of the Whole

Hearing of appeal from decision of Director of Public Works disapproving tentative map of fifty-nine unit condominium conversion subdivision, located at 1111 Pine Street.

File 59-79-22

There being no objection, on motion by Supervisor Silver, seconded by Supervisor Hutch, the Board resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Herman Beneke of the Department of Public Works advised that the Subdivision Code requires approval of 35% of the tenants, and in this instance response and consent was from 11% of the tenants only.

Mr. Alec Bash of the City Planning Department advised the Board that the requirement for consent of 35% of the tenants prevailed under the old code, but under the new code recently enacted, there is provision for excepting vacant units.

Supervisor Pelosi inquired of the City Attorney whether the matter might be continued or whether applicant might file a new application.

James Lazarus, Esq., Deputy City Attorney, responded that it would not be necessary for applicant to file a new application, but the applicant might request a continuance and come back at a later date and make a presentation arguing that appeal is in accord with new law signed by the Mayor last Friday, as said new law applies to all applications not yet approved.

Privilege of the floor was granted to Howard Ellman, Esq., attorney for appellant, who requested a continuance so that he could make a presentation at a later date bringing the application into line with requirements of the new legislation.

There was no one else present desiring to speak.

President Molinari declared the public hearing concluded.

Thereupon, Supervisor Silver, seconded by Supervisor Horanzy, moved that Board rise and report without recommendation.

No objection and motion carried.

Thereafter, the Board reconstituted itself as a Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Hutch, seconded by Supervisor Renne, moved to continue consideration to September 11, 1979.

Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: Supervisors Britt, Dolson, Gonzales, Horanzy, Hutch, Lau, Molinari, Pelosi, Renne, Silver—10.

Absent: Supervisor Kopp.

Public Hearing Held

Consideration Continued

Board of Supervisors Sitting as a Committee of the Whole Hearing of appeal from condition H imposed by Director of Public Works in approving tentative map of eight-unit condominium conversion subdivision, located at 2323 Laguna Street.

File 59-79-23

Supervisor Silver, seconded by Supervisor Horanzy, moved that Board resolve itself into Committee of the Whole.

No objection and motion carried.

Mr. Herman Beneke of the Department of Public Works advised that his department had approved the application subject to certain conditions, which it appeared the appellant did not wish to accept, and which conditions the appellant was appealing to the Board.

Mr. Alec Bash made a presentation on behalf of the City Planning Commission.

In response to an inquiry from the Board, James Lazarus, Esq., Deputy City Attorney explained that the applicant has an approved conversion application but is appealing the terms of the approval. He said that the Board might seek additional conditions at this level.

Privilege of the floor was granted to James Johnson, Esq., attorney for appellant, who asked that the Board not impose any additional conditions.

There was no one else present desiring to speak.

Rebuttal period was permitted.

Thereafter, President Molinari declared the public hearing concluded.

Supervisor Kopp, seconded by Supervisor Dolson, moved to rise and report without recommendation.

Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: Supervisors Britt, Dolson, Gonzales, Horanzy, Hutch, Kopp, Lau, Molinari, Renne, Silver—10.

The following from the Clerk, appearing on the Calendar under Unfinished Business, heretofore considered and continued to August 6, 1979, was taken up:

Resolution adopting and imposing schedules of sewer service and industrial cost recovery charges to be paid by users for fiscal year 1979-80 pursuant to Articles 4.1 and 4.2 of the Public Works Code; establishing Wastewater Program as a public service enterprise; providing for reimbursement to the General Fund of administrative expenses; providing for a severability clause.

File 225-79, Resolution No.

Motion to Rescind

There being no objection, on motion by Supervisor Kopp, seconded by Supervisor Silver, the previous action of the Board in continuing consideration of the foregoing measure was rescinded.

Supervisor Kopp stated he had just learned that based on an opinion by the City Attorney the Registrar of Voters could not certify and submit to the voters on the November ballot the initiative Sewer Service Charge Repeal Ordinance of 1979 as it involves a tax and is not subject to the referendum process. Supervisor Kopp noted that the City Attorney opinion omits discussion of Section 2 of the Jarvis-Gann Initiative, an amendment to the California Constitution adopted in June of 1978, which provides that no new taxes may be imposed by any local governmental body in California except upon two-thirds approval of the voters. Supervisor Kopp remarked that in view of the opinion that the sewer service charge is a tax, perhaps it would be appropriate to move to table subject legislation and request the preparation of substitute legislation for placement on the ballot.

Mr. Robert A. Kenealey, Deputy City Attorney, advised that the Jarvis-Gann amendment is not operative insofar as the subject legislation's being submitted to the electorate is concerned. Mr. Kenealey further advised that in the event the pending resolution is tabled by the Board, its provisions would go into effect August 15, 1979.

Motion to Table

After a period of debate, Supervisor Kopp, seconded by Supervisor Dolson, moved to table the pending proposed measure.

The roll was called on the pending motion to table and it failed adoption by the following vote:

Communication

President Molinari announced receipt of a communication from former Mayor George Christopher, and, in accordance with his right under Section 3.100 of the Charter to have a seat in the Board of Supervisors and to participate in its debates, the Journal is to reflect the following text of his communication dated March 2, 1979:

"The Honorable
San Francisco Board of Supervisors
City Hall
San Francisco, California 94102

Dear Members of the Board:

It has come to my attention that once again a resolution has been introduced before your Honorable Board, requesting a feasibility study for the acquisition of PG&E electric facilities by the City and County of San Francisco. As your Honorable Board knows, the Charter accords me the right, as a former Mayor, to appear before you at any time to express my views on matters before your Board. Since leaving the office of Mayor, I have never availed myself of this right, preferring to abstain from encumbering your legislative process with outside interjections.

However, a discussion involving the possible acquisition of PG&E facilities has such wide implications and harbors such precarious financial involvements, that I am constrained for the first time, to address you in this regard. You know it is not the first time this proposal has been before the Board of Supervisors, and on each prior occasion the propsal has been overwhelmingly rejected, the last such rejection being in 1974. No doubt, the advocates of this new proposal will contend that the legislation only calls for a "feasibility study". I respectfully call to your attention that feasibility reports are very costly, and in view of the hard pressed economy of our city, this "feasibility" study would only add to the financial burdens of our tax and rate payers.

During my tenure as Mayor, I had the honor of serving as President of one of our major national Municipal organizations, and in that capacity, we conducted several studies of public utility rates in the United States, to determine comparative rate structures. It was a revelation to me to learn how highly regarded PG&E was amongst the foremost utility experts in the United States. Consistently, PG&E had rates below the average of any major city, and this was coupled with a reputation for the highest efficiency in service and general operations, as well as for excellence in management. Needless to say, I was always proud to hear other Mayors express their admiration in this regard.

I need not remind your Honorable Board that these are difficult days for all major cities, and the responsibility you have in just keeping an even course in fiscal management is a challenge of tremendous proportions. Why add to your problems? Why add to your budget with superfluous "feasibility" costs? Why allow our city to be held in suspense and uncertainty while this matter is once again revived for fruitless discussion? The people of San Francisco would never vote to take over PG&E because they know the costs involved.

Does anyone really believe that City Hall can operate PG&E facilities better than the present expert management of PG&E? I would predict several dire situations if this matter proceeds to a point of serious discussion:

(a) San Francisco's national bond rating would drop, thus increasing the cost of interest on all bonds sold in the future. Bond buyers are practical people—they are not swayed by sentiment or mere political philosophies.

(b) Should by some stretch of the political imagination these bond proposals were adopted, I would estimate that bond interest and redemption alone, based on a 30 year amortization period, would approximate 100 million dollars per year, or about $6.50 in the tax rate. Of course, you would deduct from this the supposed profits to be earned, but I think we are all aware of the difference between management in a corporate entity controlled by a State Commission and accountable to thousands of stockholders, and a management composed of and controlled by political entities and inexorable bureaucratic considerations. I would further predict that we would have less service, with an unbearable financial burden that would break the economic back of San Francisco. As you may know, our per capita tax base in San Francisco has been precariously close to that of New York, and the financial burdens inherent in a PG&E acquisition will certainly hasten the demise of our city.

And, the problem is compounded when you consider that the substantial tax revenues now received from PG&E would be lost forever.

As you pursue your already difficult fiscal responsibilities, I believe you can enhance San Francisco's position by concentrating on facilities we already process. Certainly this is no time to assume new operations, especially an operation as vast and complex as PG&E. In 1974, the Governmental Services Committee reported that "The City's acquisition of PG&E will not result in any new service, better service, new facilities, or new community programs, only a new debt." And, I repeat, this new debt would be so huge and unmanageable that San Francisco would never recover from it.

Let us spare our taxpayers the cost of conducting a futile "Feasibility Study". And why put PG&E in this expensive treadmill, the costs of which will have to be borne ultimately by their rate payers. Let us devote our energies instead to solving the manifold problems already before us, and in this regard, I extend my sympathies to your Honorable Board, for you are indeed confronted with many uprecedented fiscal matters that require your total attention.

I respectfully urge you to reject this proposal.

With assurances of my highest respect and esteem, I am,

Sincerely,

GEORGE CHRISTOPHER"

SPECIAL ORDER—2:00 P.M.

Board of Supervisors Sitting as a Committee of the Whole

Hearing of appeal from decision of Director of Public Works disapproving tentative map of seventeen-unit condominium conversion subdivision, located at 2238 Hyde Street.

File 59-79-25

There being no objection, on motion by Supervisor Horanzy, seconded by Supervisor Renne, the Board resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Herman Beneke, representing Department of Public Works, informed the Board that the Department had checked the signatures on the appeal and had determined that they were insufficient, and also that proposal is inconsistent with the Master Plan.

Mr. Alec Bash, representing Department of City Planning, reiterated what had been reported by Mr. Beneke.

In response to an inquiry, Deputy City Attorney James Lazarus advised the Board that applicant must comply with the law at time application is made, that it was his understanding that applicant was granted an extension of time by City Planning Commission in order to comply with new subdivision ordinance, and at the end of that extension applicant was still not in accord with the law; and that the record should show there was no compliance with requirements of law.

Privilege of the floor was granted to the following:

Howard Ellman, Esq., attorney for appellant

Opponents

Russ Taplin, Esq., attorney for some of the tenants

Ray Taliaferro, tenant

Scott Woods, tenant

Rebuttal period was permitted.

In response to a question from Supervisor Kopp, Deputy City Attorney Lazarus advised that the application as it came to the Board did not meet the technical requirements; and therefore the Board has no discretion to hear the matter on its merits and make any determination as to conversion.

Thereafter, President Molinari declared the public hearing concluded.

Thereupon, the Board reconstituted itself as a Board of Supervisors.

A brief period of debate ensued.

Supervisor Renne, seconded by Supervisor Silver, moved to uphold the decision of the Director of Public Works, and to direct the Clerk to prepare legislation finding that proposed subdivision map is not consistent with the Master Plan, and approving action of Department of Public Works in disapproving tentative map filed in connection therewith.

Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes: Supervisor Britt, Gonzales, Horanzy, Hutch, Kopp, Lau, Molinari, Pelosi, Renne, Silver—10.

Report Made. Copy Ordered Filed

The following from the Mayor was taken up:

State of the City Report.

Mayor Dianne Feinstein made her report to the Board of Supervisors on the state of the City. (Text of that report follows.)

Monday, October 15, 1979

San Francisco has been through a truly shattering ordeal in the last year. But the tragedies of last winter are finally behind us. The process of unification has begun in earnest. And our magnificent City can now foresee a future which is brightening and encouraging.

The immediacy of San Francisco's pressing fiscal problems cannot be permitted to obscure our substantial accomplishments. Before discussing the general administrative operations of the municipal government, pursuant to Charter Section 3.100, I would like to explain why I believe that the state of the City is fundamentally sound.

San Francisco's prosperous economy has made important gains; personal income is up 9.1% over the last 12 months and unemployment, now at 5.9%, is down 30% from 1978, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Our MUNI, which provides the most complete public transportation system of any major city in the country, has made drastic reductions in the number of missed runs.

Our port, which is making money, signed on two new shipping lines. We have a dazzling new plan to open up our Northeastern waterfront to commerce, housing, and a magnificent bayside park. And we look forward to increasing trade with China.

Our housing stock is being rapidly rehabilitated and renewed. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development called San Francisco "the best example of urban renewal in the nation."

We have stimulated economic development of our businesses, neighborhoods, and commercial districts. We anticipate as much as $275-million in new construction and rehabilitation this year alone.

The last year has seen substantial and undeniable strides in bringing modern management practices to a city government which, in the past, has all too often been sadly deficient in this area.

Through hard work and skillful negotiation, we have equitably settled lawsuits which had for years held up the hiring of police officers, threatened the disbursement of revenue sharing funds, and thwarted the construction of the George R. Moscone Convention Center.

We have opened the door to a burgeoning trade with China which will assure San Francisco's prominence as an international trade center and mean more blue collar jobs for San Franciscans.

Through skillful administration, we managed the orderly provision of vital services in the face of tremendous disruption wrought by Proposition 13.

Our bonds remain rated at triple A, the highest rating there is.

Our citizens remain the most tolerant, diverse, and creative an amalgam as there is in any city in the country.

There are six major areas of concern that I shall be discussing during this State of the City address, and which will continue to occupy our attention in the year ahead.

1. We must and we will find a new, long-term balance between the services the city offers and the revenue base that funds them. Where we cannot reduce services, we must find new and reliable sources of income.

2. We must strengthen our Police Department so it can deal more effectively with crime.

3. We must find ways to promote and enhance the city's vibrant economy and increase job opportunities for San Franciscans.

4. We must make certain that downtown growth does not conflict with the needs of our neighborhoods. The quality and vigor of the neighborhoods must be preserved and strengthened.

5. We must make certain that new housing opportunities, at affordable prices, are available to middle and lower income families who are bearing the heaviest burden of an incredible inflation in housing costs.

6. We must find new ways to strengthen the management corps of our city, and to recruit the best available talent to serve our people. We made a start in this direction during the past year. We must continue our efforts, and intensify them.

The Fiscal Problems:

San Francisco's most immediate problem is its lack of sufficient revenues for the 1980-81 fiscal year. There is no question that we face a substantial gap between our anticipated expenses and our revenues.

To address this problem, we have our best administrative talent looking into increased general fund revenues from a variety of sources. We are making the strongest possible case in Sacramento and Washington for our fair share of state and federal funds.

We are now giving the most careful scrutiny to each and every program and every department. Our commitment is that we will get "maximum public service for every dollar invested." Every service we provide, every program we sponsor must survive the twin tests of community need and cost efficiency. Proposition 13's effects have been cushioned for two years; there is no more cushion. The upcoming budget session will bring with it some very hard choices.

In addition to the exploration of each and every legal avenue for additional revenues, we have established a performance measurement system to achieve management accountability. (Toward that end, I strongly recommend the adoption of Proposition B, a measure which will enable us to properly reward and encourage good management.)

Let me review with you some of the major accomplishments during the past year of the Mayor's Committee for San Francisco, a citizen's committee headed by Walter Hoadley, executive vice president of the Bank of America. This committee has been working quietly and effectively, in all areas of our government. Task forces involving 50 executives from business, labor and the community were assigned to 17 specific projects", 11 of which have now been completed, with savings estimated at $10- $20-million a year for San Francisco.

One such project is an executive management training program, funded by a $41,000 Blythe-Zellerbach Committee grant. Lewis Allen Associates provided training for 125 top executives in city government. This is the first time we have had formal management training for our top executives.

Sixteen classes in supervisory training for city employees have been conducted, with 220 trained as of September. Civil Service is developing follow-up techniques for reinforcing the management skills and to guarantee that more city employees receive training.

It's all very well to say you're going to eliminate waste and promote efficiency in government. But if you don't develop management skills needed to accomplish these laudable goals, it's nothing more than idle rhetoric.

A task force reviewing our payroll system found that our present system is extraordinarily complex, unnecessarily costly, unreliable, and incapable of adjusting to change.

Your honorable board recognized the merit of these findings, and approved two new positions this year, payroll director and payroll project director, under Controller John Farrell, to develop changes and modifications that will mean direct savings of $600,000 to $1-million a year.

The Mayor's Committee also took on such assignments as reviewing our cash management procedures, the operations of San Francisco General Hospital, the work of our purchasing department, and assessing our office space utilization.

What this adds up to is more efficiency in city government. That translates into saving public money.

The public should be assured that our commitment to management efficiency is not a one-shot campaign which will soon be forgotten. It will be an on-going theme which will manifest itself in budgeting, procurement, planning and service employment well into the next century. Sloppy government administration will not be tolerated in San Francisco.

Even with our management efficiencies and our new revenues, we will have to set priorities. We will have to trim our sails. But this administration will not endorse mindless across-the-board cuts and arbitrary "freezes." Nor will it use public employees as scapegoats. We are in the process now of studying our choices in a careful and deliberate manner. Our personnel policies will be designed to mitigate the impact of any necessary cuts as much as possible. But there will be reductions in both personnel and in the provision of services to the public. Let there be no mistake about that.

Reductions will not be made in a punitive or vengeful manner; "efficiency in government" will not be code words to justify an attack on the poor, the sick, and the helpless, the very people who rely on a sensitive and compassionate government the most.

Let us now look at some areas of major concern.

Public Safety

Perhaps the greatest threat to the liveability of the city is the fear of crime, a paralysis which affects primarily the poor, the elderly, and our minorities.

If tomorrow the government were to declare martial law and impose a curfew at nightfall, none of us would stand for such an arbitrary abridgement of our liberties. Yet today, the fear of crime poses a similar threat for many of our poor and elderly, who are often prisoners in their own homes.

This administration will not tolerate a nightfall curfew, imposed by thugs, and tacitly condoned by a criminal justice system which sometimes forgets about deterrence and recidivism. Along with robberies and purse-snatchings, we have seen alarming incidents of muggings, attacks, assaults on gays, on women and the elderly on our streets and on MUNI. These incidents are intolerable and we intend to make sure that both the Courts and the hoodlums know it.

This past year we have finally started the process of hiring police officers to bring the department up to full strength; our department will be strong, competent, professional; its members will reflect the ethnic and social composition of the City. San Francisco will put police on the streets in sufficient numbers to assure our safety. I promise you that, also.

I have called for a new community relations unit for our Police Department that will coordinate with the district stations in combatting tensions and social unrest that could flare into open confrontations. I want you to know, also, that I am committed to the selection of a new chief of police from within the department who respects the men and women in the force and is, in turn respected by them.

We will continue and, wherever possible, strengthen our police training program, so the new men and women who join the uniformed force will meet the highest standards of professionalism. In accordance with our agreement when we settled the Officers for Justice lawsuit this year, they will be representative of the community they serve.

Settlement of that lawsuit, of course, meant that we can now recruit enough police to bring the department up to its authorized strength of 1971 uniformed personnel for the first time in history.

We have seen improvements in our Courts; the number of prison commitments has increased almost threefold in the last four years; we have seen an admirable commitment by the prosecution to remove the violent criminal from the streets. The improvements which we have seen—sentences for adult offenders—have not, unfortunately, been paralleled by the treatment which violent juveniles receive. This is an area sorely in need of reform.

Our Police Department is woefully undermanned, and yet statistics indicate that, compared to other cities in the United States, we are holding our own in the everlasting battle against crime.

Our Arson Task Force has made tremendous strides. Arson in San Francisco has been reduced almost 4% in the last year alone, while it increased nationally by 25%. Arson arrests have averaged 4 times the national average and our conviction rate has risen to an astronomical 74% of cases brought to trial.

The success of the Arson Task Force (comprised of the Fire Department, the Police, and the District Attorney's Office) provides an example of the kind of cooperative approach to government problems which I have tried to encourage.

Transportation

MUNI is in the earliest stages of a building process to make up for years of neglect, inadequate management, and the application of an inadequate resource base to enable it to care for its own equipment and facilities.

While MUNI continues to cover the city in a fashion unequaled in the United States, its level of service remains unacceptable. A constantly growing ridership—increasing at the rate of 15 percent a year—is straining the capacity of the system. In order to meet the demands of the next several years, MUNI will have to continue on the road it has now undertaken to provide vastly improved maintenance of its facilities and tighten control of its day-to-day operations.

As recently as March and April of this year, MUNI was unable to put 10 percent of its scheduled runs on the street because of maintenance breakdowns. MUNI now has so improved its day-to-day maintenance that it has not missed a run of the diesel and trolley coach fleet in the past four months. Street car missed runs, which were averaging 20 to 40 a day last Spring, are now down to four to 10 a day.

MUNI sends out 1000 runs daily. Driver absenteeism, always a serious problem, is now receiving management attention. It is still too high. But a progressive and innovative new labor contract with the Transport Workers Union has been signed, and it will give us the opportunity to vastly improve our operations. Paired with a fair wage and fringe benefit agreement was the recognition by the union that management has the right to hire part time workers to drive buses in order to meet rush hour surges in demand. Further work rule changes increased management flexibility and opened up an era of union and management cooperation that will inevitably mean more efficiency and better service for MUNI riders.

Our renowned national landmark, the cable cars, will be partially closed down during the next several months. The cable car system will be rebuilt and restored completely during the next few years. Last week Secretary of Transportation Neil Goldschmidt came to San Francisco and met with me to discuss federal funding for restoration of this priceless national heritage. We will get the funding we need to rebuild the cable cars. But in the meantime, no cable cars will run until we are convinced that their safety level is acceptable. We will not gamble with safety.

Finally, after an investment of some $300-million and ten years, our MUNI Metro System will begin operations in January. This new system, with its vast, quiet, and admittedly very complex cars, will enable us to increase dramatically the carrying capacity of MUNI from the Western, Southeastern and Southwestern sections of our City. The time it takes to get from the Castro Portal to the Embarcadero will be about one quarter what it is now on streetcars.

Downtown and the Neighborhoods

I said that Downtown growth must not impinge on the vitality and economic and social health of our neighborhoods. Both have key roles to play in the economic and social health of San Francisco. It is not necessary for them to be in conflict. Both can flourish in a sound and vibrant community.

Unlike the downtowns of almost every American city, San Francisco's downtown is thriving. I was informed recently that Macy's San Francisco store is second in sales, based on square feet of selling and storage space, only to Bloomingdale's in New York City store. Their volume is now running better than $100 million a year. And they will soon have new neighbors—Neiman Marcus and Saks Fifth Avenue. Downtown retail business is soaring. Our hotels are full. Our convention and tourist business is increasing. When the new $100-million George R. Moscone Convention Center is in place, it will increase even more. The incredible expansion of office space in our downtown continues. Downtown is healthy.

So are our neighborhoods.

As you know, San Francisco receives grants of some $26-million a year in Community Development funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. This block grant program is directly responsive to our neighborhoods, and sets as a primary goal the upgrading and stabilization of low and moderate income communities. We seek to improve and increase the supply of affordable rental and owner-type housing, increase the viability of neighborhood businesses, and provide supportive improvements of public and private facilities.

Community Development funds, for example, are used to provide low income for rehabilitating housing. Next year, we estimate that 3640 units of housing will be rehabilitated in San Francisco through this program alone.

In the past year, approximately 500 units of new subsidized federal housing were committed in San Francisco neighborhoods. Since January, $10-million in loans were made available to low and moderate income families for home ownership and home improvement in San Francisco. Almost $12-million in California Housing Finance Agency funds will provide 217 units of lower income housing to families and elderly persons in San Francisco. Our own loan programs through the Redevelopment Agency and the Bureau of Building Inspection have provided $3.25 million to rehabilitate more than 570 units of housing. We plan some 2,400 units of housing on our Northeastern waterfront. A major new housing development will be privately built at Playland.

These are projects that make a difference. And they prove San Francisco can produce needed housing.

I would like to compliment the Board on moving promptly to establish a Rental Arbitration Board that is working to stabilize rents and prevent unjust evictions of tenants. That Board is in operation now. It has had more than 600 inquiries, more than 95 percent of them from tenants. There have been more than 100 hearings, and another 110 are scheduled. In addition,75 cases have been settled without the need for formal hearings. Sixty three percent of those that were heard resulted in decisions favoring the tenants. The Rental Arbitration Board is in place. It is working. I hope we give it a chance, and that we defeat the Rent Control initiative—Proposition R—on next month's ballot.

In addition, this Board enacted and I signed, a condominium conversion ordinance that provides an orderly scheme permitting some units to convert to condominiums while requiring the production of new housing for low and moderate income families.

The condominium ordinance and the rent arbitration board are good examples of creative legislation, unique in the nation, that we provided to meet some of our most pressing problems. With this kind of approach, and a willingness to say that problems can indeed be solved, we will meet our challenges in the years to come.

Through the Mayor's Office of Economic Development, we have made a strong commitment to improving our neighborhood businesses, bolstering the blue collar industrial base, and channeling tremendous economic benefits for San Francisco residents.

San Francisco must not become a "one industry town" or a "boutique city" for the enjoyment of commuters and tourists. We need a mixture of blue and white collar jobs in finance, shipping, trade, services, retailing and wholesaling, distribution, and manufacturing.

The Economic Development Office has in its one year of existence concentrated on 1) neighborhood commercial revitalization, 2) "citywide" loan programs designed to finance jobs and investment in small, expanding businesses, and 3) public works projects intended to prepare sites for employment-generating economic development.

It is now developing the capability, both in terms of financial capacity and land development potential, to attract and retain the business investment for jobs, tax base, and neighborhood revitalization.

As an example of what we have been doing, we have placed or processed $12.8 million in low-interest, long-term loans to small business, utilizing $56,000 in community development funds; this level of investment should generate 600 jobs at a cost to the City of $84 per permanent job created.

The commitment by private financial entities of $10 million to assist businesses in the South of Market, northern Mission, Potrero, and Bayview-Hunters Point, which should create or retain 1,000 jobs is another example.

The China Gateway Committee, similarly, set the stage for trade which will provide the blue collar jobs which San Francisco so desperately needs. Our recent trip to China gave San Francisco an advantage in trade that is the envy of cities up and down the Pacific coast.

Our commitment to job creation is complemented by the employment training efforts of the Mayor's Office of Employment and Training. Our youth, and particularly minority youth, need jobs and job-training. The unemployment rate which minority youth suffer is intolerable and unconscionable; it is a strong contributing factor to our crime rate. We cannot neglect our obligation to find and create jobs for our young people.

Although San Francisco's CETA program has had, and continues to have, good performance ratings from the Department of Labor, adverse reports about CETA in other parts of the country resulted in drastic changes in CETA legislation and would have forced the City to lay off more than 1600 workers, most of them young, and most of them not yet fully trained for the labor market, on September 30.

I met with Secretary of Labor Marshall and with Vice President Mondale to argue for a waiver for a majority of our CETA workers. We got it. Some 1208 CETA workers kept their jobs and we can now plan for an orderly transition over the next 12 months.

It meant we could retain 125 positions with the Police Department, including 70 MUNI guards, 129 health services personnel, 57 public library employees and 121 persons assigned to our Recreation and Park Department, among many others.

In addition, and thanks in large measure to the splendid work of Elizabeth Robbins, whom we hired this year to represent us in Washington, the Department of Labor increased our credit for administrative expenses for CETA programs from $316,731 to $1,840,656 for the fiscal year 78-79 and 79-80.

Other Departments

Let's look, briefly, at some of the other accomplishments of city departments this past year.

The Health Department reorganized its administrative structure at a considerable savings.

The Department is collecting revenues better than ever before. At San Francisco General Hospital, for example, collections were $1.5 million more than had been projected. Laguna Honda billables are up 12 percent. With your approval, we established a billing system for emergency medical services that will cut in half the reliance on property taxes. It also means we will have ten new ambulances, paid for out of fees.

As I mentioned earlier, San Francisco General Hospital now has full accreditation, and a laudatory commendation on the superior quality of care it offers.

We will soon be opening Clarendon Hall of Laguna Honda Hospital, thereby providing 170 additional skilled nursing beds for the needy elderly citizens of our city.

The Airport Commission set a goal of improving productivity by 10 percent over the next five years.

Strong management has been able to hold down the number of employees at the new North Terminal substantially under the 886 you authorized. Actual employment there is under 800.

Significant savings have been effected through tight management of the Airport's construction program. By requiring the redesign of the control tower and Pier D, construction costs were reduced by $7-million. The cost of administration for the construction program has been reduced by $1.2-million a year.

The Airport itself continues to prosper. Passenger traffic is increasing at 11 to 12 percent a year. Our efforts to make this the Gateway City to Asia paid off at the airport, as well as the port. The first direct commercial flight from China will land in San Francisco in December and regularly scheduled service between San Francisco and Beijing will begin in the Spring.

Redevelopment is sponsoring some $275-million worth of new construction and rehabilitation this year. That includes 24 new industrial plants and office buildings totalling nearly 2.2 million square feet. Some 1600 new and rehabilitated homes, both subsidized and market rate are being built. Thousands of construction and post-construction permanent jobs will result.

Last week we announced grants of more than $1-million for two major neighborhood parks in San Francisco—McLaren Park, which received a $507,000 grant from the Department of the Interior, and Mission Playground, which received more than $600.000 from Interior, for rehabilitation and expansion of a worn-out physical plant.

Friday I took Secretary of the Interior Cecil Andrus on a tour of Golden Gate Park. Early next month he will receive an application from us for $1.2 million to pay for major reforestation and other improvement projects there. I am certain our arguments will be persuasive.

The Park Department this year replaced the grass turf on Candlestick Park, renovated the Senior Citizen's Center in Golden Gate Park, provided new play apparatus for Mission Dolores Park, reconstructed the Jackson Playground Field House, is nearing completion of a new recreational center at Chinese Playground.

Conclusion

I recognize, as do you, that we face fiscal and administrative problems of substantial magnitude. But that is no cause to throw up our hands, lose hope, and forecast disaster.

Doomsday prophesy and self-righteous posturing do not solve problems, nor do they provide the basis for leadership. The constant wailing of our City's Cassandras is no substitute for calm and rational decision making.

I emphasized in this state of the city address positive accomplishments, of which we should all be proud. We are eliminating waste. We are becoming more efficient in our operations. We are finding new sources of funding. We are seeing to it that essential services are maintained at a high level. We are meeting the needs of our neediest citizens—the poor, the elderly, the sick and the infirm.

Before we say we can no longer afford a neighborhood library system, or an extensive system of parks and recreation facilities, and before we say we must withdraw support for cultural programs, or reduce our protective services, we must do three things.

1. We must be certain we get full value for every dollar we spend. I have already cited some of the ways major departments are doing just that. We have in place in the Recreation and Park Department, and we will be installing it in other departments as well, the FIRM program, a management tool that can tell us precisely whether or not our money is being well spent in a cost-efficient manner.

2. We must investigate every possible source of additional revenue. Certainly there are fees for service that can and should be increased. We have both a Washington and a Sacramento representative now whose primary task it is to see to it that we get at least our fair share of State and Federal money. I believe our revenue producing departments, including the utilities, the port, and the airport, must make a greater contribution to the general fund to help defray the costs of other departments that don't produce a profit. There may be tax sources we have not adequately tapped. Legal means of increasing our income must be examined. That effort is now underway and I shall be reporting its progress to you soon after the first of the year.

3. If, after all these avenues have been fully explored, we find we still must cut services, we must make these cuts carefully, sensitively, and with a commitment to preserve that which is vital to those who by force of circumstance depend on government the most. Cuts must be made so as to do the least damage to our economic base. And they must be made in a manner that will minimize disruption.

These are difficult times. There is no way you or I can wave a magic wand to make the dark clouds overhead disappear. We have problems. We will find solutions.

When you elected me Mayor, I pledged to begin the work of bringing about San Francisco's emotional reconstruction by calling on all segments of the City to work together in a spirit of civility and tolerance, in the spirit of St. Francis, our patron Saint.

I have kept that pledge. I worked cooperatively with you and with neighborhood groups, with labor, with business, and with various minority communities to build for our common future in a spirit of compassion, conciliation and cooperation.

I come to you now in the same spirit. In the years to come, we must work together, closely, to solve our common problems. We can't do it with negativism. We can't be divisive. I can't do it alone. And you can't do it alone. We need to help each other, and we will, for the sake of the city we love.

At the conclusion of the Mayor's statement, she presented a copy thereof, which was ordered filed by the President.
